supply, and this is in spite of continuous Council. outlay in extensions, as may be seen from the yearly estimates of Colonial Expenditure. It appears that our water supply is constantly slightly behind the times, instead of slightly ahead of them, as should be; that the necessary money is expended, and the necessary work done. only it is always done a year or two too

It is not that sufficient reports have not been written nor surveys made for new works. So long ago as 1893, Mr Cooper, who, whatever his shortcomings may have been, had certainly a clear grusp of the situntion as regards our water supply, warned the Colony against the mistaken idea that the supply from the big reservoir at Company's Office, No. 14, Des Voeux Tytam' was inexhaustible. Then again. after recurring water famines and the exceptional one of 1895 had brought about of the Company, No. 4, Queen's Build. a public agitation, the whole question was considered by Mr Cooper in an able and exhaustive report dated May, 1896. But the works shown to be necessary for what were then the present requirements have been completed, and it is only new after five years that what were then the future, but are now the present needs, are being considered, and we find in the Colonial

The Government has been blamed for granting to Messrs Butterfield and Swire the right to make their high-level reservoir at Quarry Bay. But would the Govern ment have done anything with the site? Judging from their action or want of action in the matter, it seems to us that if the site had not been granted to Messra Butterfield and Swire the only result would have been that the works of that firm would have been crippled while the public supply would not have been increased. But we have now a much larger question to face than appeared at all probable at the time Mr Cooper's report was written five years ago. It is now proposed under Mr Chater's Praya East Reclamation Scheme to provide ground for an increase to the population of 150,000. The water supply to the City. and Hill District is given in the D. P. W.'s report for 1899 as 3,183,000 gallons : day, or at the rate of 15.8 gallons per head per day. The additional 150,000 at this Frate will require further 2,370,000 gallens, making a total of 5½ million gallons a day. Now, has been shown in Mr Cooper's Report, above quoted, that 4 million gallons a day only can be obtained by gravitation from the present catchment areas, and to provide the additional 14 millions we must therefore either have recourse to pumping or go to the New Territory-both very costly undertakings. There is, however, another solution of the difficulty, which has been put forward before and which we hold to be the best one, viz., that the Chronicle says; take place until the middle water in the native quarters should be sup- of June, 1902. An Amusing Letter.

The following curious letter is sent to us by Mr H. E. Pollock, K.C., Hon. Secretary of the Hongkong Public Library :-

London (Eng.), February 15, 1901. Sec'y., Hongkong Library. DEAR SIR, -Last month, when I was in Hongkong, I took a ride on a rickshaw along Queen's Road (just to keep in the swim), and asked a fellow with a Kodak if there was a Public Library in town. . No. I wandered on, and noticed a stately edifice with a sign at the door. The sign was the card of rules for the Library. Open to all nationalities. Well, the harbour of Hong-

SANITARY BOARD ELECTION.

Threatened Doadlock.

On Monday first, the electors will be called upon to elect by popular vote two gentlemen to occupy the unofficial chairs at the Sanitary Board vacated by Mr J. McKie and Dr Harrigan, both of whom have resigned for reasons of the river. well known in the Colony. Mr Norton Kysho is in charge of the election arrangements, but as yet nobody has come forward as a candidate for the been arrested. vacant seats. A rumour was current in town that Mr R. W. Mounsey, solicitor, was to be nominated, and would probably allow his name to be put forward. Upon inquiry, however, it is learned that there is no foundation for the rumour. Mr Mounsey states that he cannot spare the time to give the position justice, nor does he care to wasto his energy in discussing matters which are soldern likely to bear fruit. We also hear that Mr. H. E. Pollock was asked to come forward, but declined the 'honour.' Of course, as an official he could not now be a member. It is not at all improbable, as already hinted in our editoria columns, that Mr. E. Osborne will resign his seat on the Board, and Mr Osborne is the more likely to take this stap should he be left without any European unofficial colleagues on the Board. All things considered, it would seem that the present constitution of the Sanitary Board has entered upon dark days.

A regiment of Metropolitan Mounted Rifles is being enrolled from among the London Volunteers.

In view of the manner of the escape of Commandent de Wet, and of his tactics right through the war, it is felt in some quarters that greater discretion and initiative ought to be allowed to commanders on the spot, inasmuch as it is impossible to wire orders to the commanders from bendquarters. Commandent do Wet usually outpaces the fastest British column by five miles a day, and unless a commander strikes the Boer rearguard immediately it is impossible to maintain contact with-the onemy. Particulars of the capture of 30 Boers by Captain J. Dallimore, of the Victorian Bushmen, and 15 of his men on Friday last, show that the Victorians, who were attached to Colonel Henniker's column, reconnoitred a party of Boers who were trying to intercent Nesbitt's Horse at the junction of the Zeekoo and Orange Rivers. Captain Dallimore at nightfull stampeded the Boers' horses, and surrounded 30 Boers whom he awakened at dawn by firing a volley smong them. The escape of Commandant de Wet over the Orange River at Lilliefontein. near the Colesberg Bridge, was due to a miscalulation by which the column commanded by Lieutenant Colonel the Hon. J. H. G.
